3. Buyer has the right to refuse to pay the price of Products that does not conform to the provisions of this Agreement, and shall not assume any liabilities arising therefrom.

IX. Rights and Responsibilities

1. Buyer's responsibilities:

(1) Buyer shall provide the information relating to the production of Products, so that Seller may prepare materials according to such information.

(2) Buyer shall take delivery of the Products as scheduled herein, and shall pay the price of the Products according to the payment method as agreed by the Parties after Seller has checked accounts and issue an acceptable GST invoice on time.

(3) Buyer has the right to require Seller to adjust the supply prices of the Products according to the change of market price of Buyer's products, the change of batch supply size and raw material price of Seller, etc, and the contents and range of such adjustment shall be determined by the Parties through negotiation.

(4) Buyer shall complete other matters as specified herein.

2. Seller's responsibilities:

(1) Seller shall produce Products according to purchase contract as scheduled with high quality, and undertake to deliver the Products as scheduled.

(2) Under the equal transaction conditions of the same industry, Seller guarantees that the product prices as provided by Seller to Buyer shall be no more than those as provided by Seller to any other customer. Once Seller breaches such provision, Buyer has the right to require Seller to refund the difference. If the prices of Products are reduced due to the decrease of market price or raw material price, cost reduction, decrease of agency/distribution price, etc, Seller shall take the initiative to reduce the product prices for Buyer; if Seller fails to timely reduce the prices, Seller shall refund the total price difference of all the Products that are supplied within the period (from the date when the prices of the Products shall be reduced to the date when Seller actually reduces such prices for Buyer) to Buyer; without prior negotiate with Buyer, Seller may not increase the prices of Products. For the price agreed by both parties; if Buyer makes a mistake in the unit price when placing an order, Seller must immediately notify Buyer. Otherwise, if it is found by Buyer, not only Buyer will recover the price difference from Seller, but also it will influence the assessment on Seller and the distribution and production of orders.

(3) Notification of suspension of production/remodeling: Seller guarantees that if Seller intends to suspend the production of the Products of the supply plan hereunder or remodel such Products (including version upgrade), Seller shall notify Buyer in writing at least 6 months in advance. Before Buyer confirms the substitution materials, Seller must guarantee the normal delivery of raw materials. Seller agrees to compensate for all losses as suffered by Buyer due to the breach of such provision by Seller.

(4) Seller shall provide actual bank account number and account name to Buyer. In case of any change of bank account number or name, Seller shall immediately notify Buyer in writing; otherwise Buyer has the right to return GST invoice and to correspondingly postpone the payment period.

(5) In case of any change of enterprise name of Seller, Seller shall immediately notify Buyer, and shall provide the notification of change, business license, tax registration certificate, etc as issued by the administration for industry and commerce according to the requirements. After such change, Seller shall re-sign this Agreement and relevant supplier agreement with Buyer with the new enterprise name.

If Seller decides to change company name, it shall immediately notify Buyer. If Seller fails to notify in advance or viciously changes name, Buyer has the right to freeze the price of Products of Seller and charge a penalty from Seller as the case may be, and Seller may not raise any objection; in addition, Seller shall compensate for all losses as suffered by Buyer therefore. In case of serious circumstance, Buyer has the right to unilaterally decide to suspend or terminate this Agreement.

(6) Seller shall authorize special personnel to receive payment. If any such personnel forge Seller's certi seal to receive any payment for Products by cheating, Seller shall recover the payment from such personnel, and Buyer shall not assume any responsibilities.

(7) Seller may not transfer its rights and obligations hereunder to any third party.

(8) Seller shall complete other matters as agreed herein.

(9) Both parties promise to comply with applicable laws and regulations in relation to data protection. If Seller needs to collect and process the personal data of the relevant personal data subjects on behalf of Buyer during the process of rendering services for Buyer hereunder, Seller shall guarantee that all the activities it conducts comply with the requirements of applicable laws and regulations (including but not limited to EU GDPR and U.S. privacy act, etc.). Seller shall carry out date processing activities in accordance with the provisions hereof or Data Processing Agreement, Data Cross-border Transmission Agreement and other documents signed by and between both parties and Buyer's instructions. Otherwise, Seller shall be liable for the corresponding consequences caused thereby.

X. Intellectual Property

1. Seller guarantees that all Products as supplied by it to Buyer:

(1) If Seller is manufacturer, Seller guarantees that the Products are originally manufactured and assembled and that Seller owns the full and lawful title of such Products; if Seller is agent/distributor, Seller must provide agency/distribution agreement, so as to guarantee that the supply channel is regular and lawful and that the Products are manufactured and assembled by the original brand manufacturer.

(2) The Products shall not have any defect of title so as to avoid any claim from a third party;

(3) The Products shall not infringe the intellectual property right or other legitimate rights and interests of any third party;

2. If any third party lodges a tort action against Buyer due to any of the aforesaid causes, Seller shall assist Buyer and assume the expenses arising therefrom (including but not limited to litigation costs, attorney's fee, travelling costs, etc). In addition, Seller agrees to compensate for all losses as suffered by Buyer therefore.

1. Seller shall strictly keep the business information and technical information as provided by Buyer (including but not limited to supply quantity, price, and the technical materials, drawings, customer information, business plan, personnel information as provide by Buyer) and any information relating to Buyer that Seller obtains due to the performance of this Agreement confidential, and may not disclose such information, and shall use such information only for the purpose of performing this Agreement.

3. Liabilities for breach

3.1 If Seller fails to perform the aforesaid duty of confidentiality but does not bring any losses or serious consequences to Buyer, Seller shall pay a penalty of no more than 10% of the value of the contract.

3.2 If the breach of Seller as described in the preceding paragraph brings any losses or serious consequences to Buyer, Seller shall assume the liabilities for breach; compensation for losses shall be calculated as follows:

A. Compensation for losses shall be the actual economic losses as suffered by Buyer due to the breach of this Agreement by Seller. Calculation method: if the selling quantity of Buyer's products decreases due to any infringement act of Seller, the compensation for losses shall be the total decrease quantity multiplied by the profit of each Product;

B. If it is difficult to calculate Buyer's losses according to the calculation method as mentioned in paragraph A, the compensation for losses shall be no less than 50% of the total transaction amount as occurring between the Parties;

C. The reasonable expenses as paid by Buyer for investigating the breach of this Agreement by Seller;
D. If the breach of this Agreement by Seller infringes the trade secrets of Buyer, Buyer may require Seller to assume the liabilities for breach as required herein, or require Seller to assume the liabilities for infringement according to the relevant national laws and regulations.
E. If Buyer is claimed against by any third party for the liabilities for breach or infringement due to the breach of this Agreement by Seller, Seller shall assume all losses as suffered by Buyer therefore, including the litigation costs, arbitral costs, attorney's fee, appraisal costs, etc as paid by Buyer for resolving the dispute between Buyer and the third party.

XI. Confidentiality

1. Seller shall strictly keep the business information and technical information as provided by Buyer (including but not limited to supply quantity, price, and the technical materials, drawings, customer information, business plan, personnel information as provide by Buyer) and any information relating to Buyer that Seller obtains due to the performance of this Agreement confidential, and may not disclose such information, and shall use such information only for the purpose of performing this Agreement.
2. Seller may not directly or indirectly utilize the opportunity of contacting or trading with Buyer or use the trade secrets or intellectual property of Buyer, to conduct any improper act that competes with Buyer's business or obstruct any potential or actual trading act between Buyer and its customer.
3. Liabilities for breach
3.1 If Seller fails to perform the aforesaid duty of confidentiality but does not bring any losses or serious consequences to Buyer, Seller shall pay a penalty of no more than 10% of the value of the contract.
3.2 If the breach of Seller as described in the preceding paragraph brings any losses or serious consequences to Buyer, Seller shall assume the liabilities for breach; compensation for losses shall be calculated as follows:
A. Compensation for losses shall be the actual economic losses as suffered by Buyer due to the breach of this Agreement by Seller. Calculation method: if the selling quantity of Buyer's products decreases due to any infringement act of Seller, the compensation for losses shall be the total decrease quantity multiplied by the profit of each Product;
B. If it is difficult to calculate Buyer's losses according to the calculation method as mentioned in paragraph A, the compensation for losses shall be no less than 50% of the total transaction amount as occurring between the Parties;
C. The reasonable expenses as paid by Buyer for investigating the breach of this Agreement by Seller;
D. If the breach of this Agreement by Seller infringes the trade secrets of Buyer, Buyer may require Seller to assume the liabilities for breach as required herein, or require Seller to assume the liabilities for infringement according to the relevant national laws and regulations.
E. If Buyer is claimed against by any third party for the liabilities for breach or infringement due to the breach of this Agreement by Seller, Seller shall assume all losses as suffered by Buyer therefore, including the litigation costs, arbitral costs, attorney's fee, appraisal costs, etc as paid by Buyer for resolving the dispute between Buyer and the third party.

XII. Liabilities for Breach

1. Seller shall deliver Products strictly according to the quantity as specified in purchase contract, without short shipment. Once Buyer finds one product less, Seller shall make compensation according to ten times the price of such product. In case of serious circumstance, Seller shall pay a penalty. The penalty shall be no less than INR 7000 each time; the penalty of less than INR 7000 shall be calculated according to INR 7000. Any such penalty shall be deducted from the payment from Products, and Seller shall otherwise make up the insufficiency. If Seller fails to deliver the adequate quantity, Seller shall replace or make up within the time limit as required by Buyer and assume all expenses arising therefrom; in addition, Buyer has the right to investigate against Seller for the liability for compensation according to the degree of actual impact.

2. Seller guarantees that the quality of the Product shall conform to the provisions of this Agreement. Once Buyer finds any defective product, it shall immediately notice Buyer; Seller shall replace such defective product without compensation within the time limit as required by Buyer, and assume all expenses arising therefrom (including but not limited to labor costs, repair costs, charge for loss of working time, etc). If Buyer's any customer returns any Product or makes a claim due to any quality problem of such Product, Seller shall assume all economic losses and legal responsibilities arising therefrom.
