

Autoservice Blask GmbH, Langeln, Germany

"Reliable doors day and night, all year round, in any weather – with doors from ASSA ABLOY Entrance Systems we have the security we need"

Location and situation
The firm of Autoservice Blask GmbH is based in Langeln, in the north of Germany, and employs a staff of seven. It is always immensely important for their staff to reach their vehicles reliably and quickly, because when the call comes, you have to get going fast!

The main activity of Autoservice Blask GmbH is truck recovery. They also offer a towing service for cars and buses. Autoservice Blask GmbH has its own workshop where they can repair the vehicles that they recover.

Autoservice Blask GmbH decided on fully-glazed Crawford 242 overhead sectional doors with passdoor, not just because of the optimal daylight, but also to allow maximum freedom of movement for staff and vehicles. The garage block on the neighbouring site, which is used for private storage of the owners' vehicles, was also fitted with white Crawford 542 overhead sectional doors.

Requirements
- Reliable door systems
- Trouble-free operation
- Increased efficiency
- Safety
- Optimal daylight
- Pleasant working environment
- Customer satisfaction

As the site is used both as a workshop and for safekeeping of the towing vehicles, the top priority for Autoservice Blask GmbH is that both areas are ideally protected and operate smoothly at all times.

Autoservice Blask GmbH is renowned as a reliable partner for the rapid recovery of broken-down vehicles and the immediate clearance of accident sites. Breakdowns or failures of the door systems could not only result in delays, but also harm the positive image of the company.

Concept implementation
Choice of high-quality door systems to ensure efficient operation. The following systems were chosen:
- 5 Crawford 242 overhead sectional door with passdoor, translucent, fully-glazed, incl. operator with remote control
- 2 Crawford 542 overhead sectional door incl. operator and remote control

Result
Its choice of ASSA ABLOY Entrance Systems Crawford doors guarantees Autoservice Blask trouble-free operation. The optimally-matched colour scheme means the doors fit in perfectly with the look of the existing building. The modern, electrical operating system with remote control offers maximum safety as well as ease of operation.
